There was once a galah
who was very greedy.

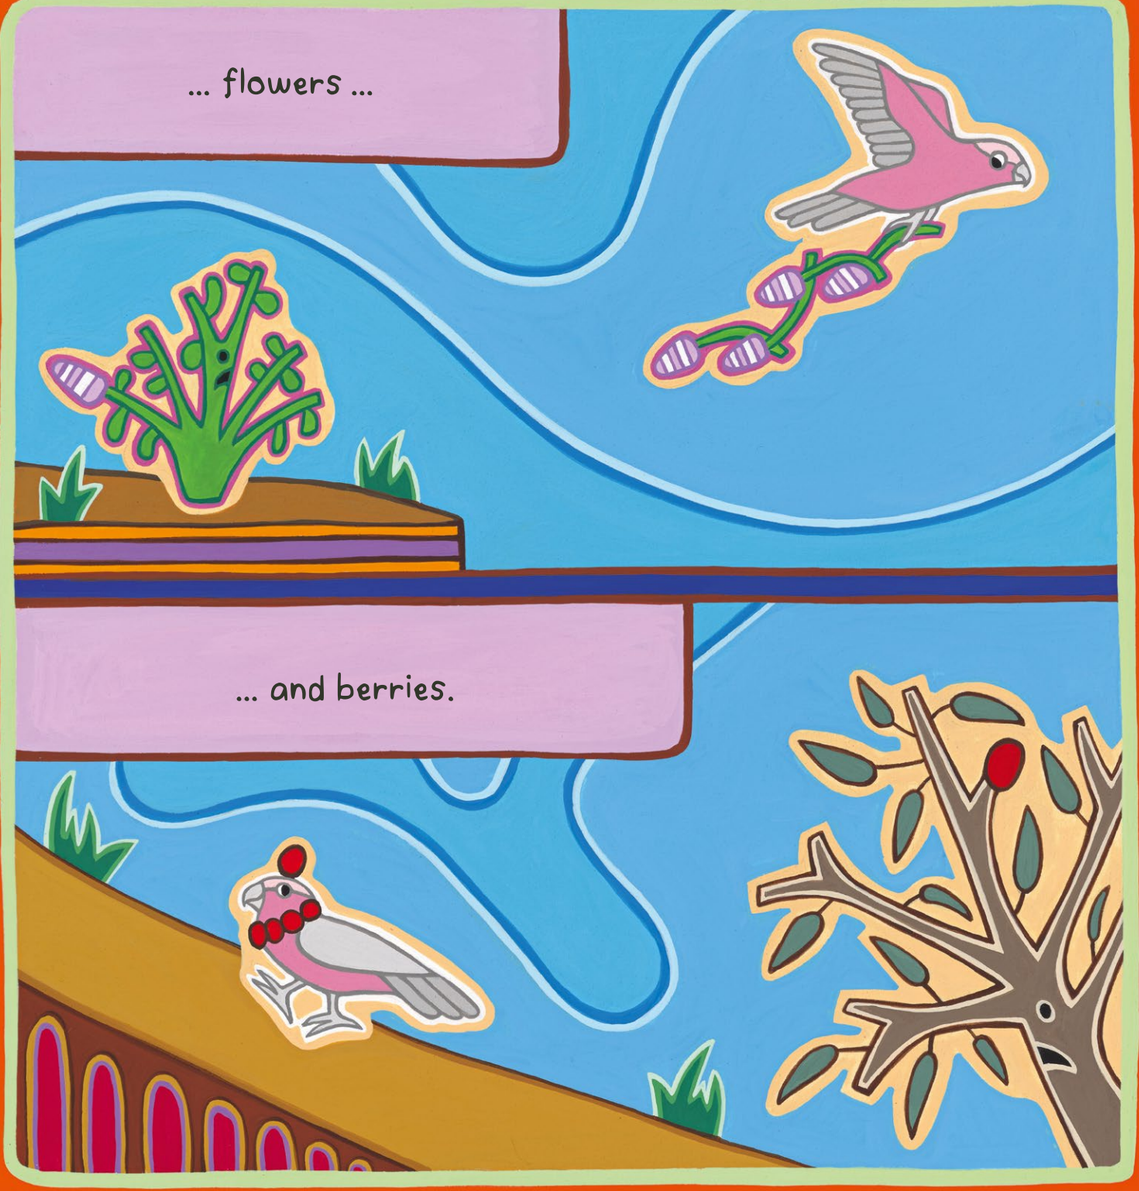

She loved filling her nest
with bright, colourful things.

She took feathers ...

... flowers ...

... and berries.

This made everyone angry with Galah,
but she didn't care.

'I don't need anybody else,' said Galah.
'I only need my treasures.'

